WARRANTS OUT FOR PITTSBURGH BREWERS

MARSHAL JOHN F. SHORT
SERVING THE WARRANTSPITTSBURGH BREWING COMPANY SOLD
BEER TO SALOON CONTAINING MORE
THAN LEGAL ALCOHOLIC CONTENTS

FIRST FEDERAL STEP TO ENFORCE

PITTSBURGH, July 9.—U. S. District Attorney Crawford of the Western District of Pennsylvania made out an information today charging the Pittsburgh Brewing Company with violation of the war time prohibition law. It is charged that the Pittsburgh Brewing company sold beer containing more than one-half of one per cent. alcohol to a local saloon. The specific act under which the information is made is the Pittsburgh Brewing Company sold this beer under date of July 3d, 1919 and that upon analysis it was found to contain 1.99 per cent alcohol by weight and 2.43 per cent alcohol by volume.

The information was laid before Federal Court Judge Thompson who issued a writ requiring that the Brewing Company plead or demur. At the same time a bench warrant was issued for the eleven principal officers of the brewing company and the warrants turned over to U. S. Marshal John F. Short for immediate service. Federal officers were also given a search warrant under which authority they will raid the brewery for additional evidence of dry law violation.

This is the first Federal action in this section of the state which has for its purpose the enforcing of war time prohibition.

The sale was that of ten barrels of beer sold to Sam Olmstead, a saloon keeper on Diamond street in Pittsburgh at a price of $17 per barrel. The evidence was gathered by Special Agent R. B. Spencer of the Department of Justice.

SOVIETS CONTROL PRINCIPAL CITIES
OF ITALY. FOOD RIOTS CONTINUE

PARIS, July 9.—Reports from Italy indicate that a number of the principal cities of Italy are under control of soviets, some composed of radicals and others of conservatives. Conditions in those where the radicals are in control are bad but in those where the conservative element have taken control there appears to be good conditions. In Florence a committee of five conservatives are at the helm.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ROME, ITALY, July 9.—Cavalry is patrolling the principal streets of Rome today dispersing the food rioters and making a vain attempt to end the disturbances which have continued for several days. Most of the stores are closed but the authorities have ordered all to open their doors at once. Drastic penalties are provided for those who refuse to open their doors to the trade and where there is a refusal the goods will be confiscated by the government and distributed.

GERMAN POSITION ON SURRENDER OF
KAISER TO BE ANNOUNCED SOON

Conflicting Thoughts

DRYS IN CONGRESS
SCORE BIG POINT
ON WET FORCES

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The fight to outlaw light wines and beers was launched in the House today when the "drys" succeeded in getting the prohibition enforcement bill over the protests of the "wets" and a number of unexpected reinforcements who charged that unfair advantages was being taken because of the absence of nearly half the members.

Contrary to the expectation of all the wets and many of the drys who thought it would be impossible to begin consideration of the measure before Thursday the rules committee reported out a special rule making it in order for immediate consideration. The vote on the adoption of this rule, considered as a test of strength, showed the drys in overwhelming majority.

Party lines were obliterated and the vote was 225 to 59 with one voting present. With one vote the wets, however, claim that a large number of their supporters are absent from the city and will be on hand to vote on an amendment to be offered later.

Reading of the measure for amendment under the five minute rule will extend into next week. It is not likely that a final vote can be taken before Tuesday.

The wets indicated today that they will use every possible parliamentary means of prolonging consideration of the bill. They started a filibuster while the rule was up and continued it during general debate in the committee of the whole. Points of no quorums were raised three times and other moves were made to delay the progress of the bill.

The drys finally stopped the filibuster for the time being by keeping a quorum present in the hall. They declared tonight that when the bill comes up again they will be prepared to resist all dilatory tactics.

PROGRESS OF BRADFORD
REVIVAL

The revival meeting in the old Bradford church was well attended last night. Rev. H. A. Buffington of Phillipsburg preached a strong sermon on the subject "Jesus the Friend". An old fashioned testimony meeting followed. There was one request for prayer.

This is your meeting. It will last this week only. There will be good preaching and good music every night. Phillipsburg, Digler and Woodland and Shiloh were represented last night. Let the folks from Clearfield, Wallacetown and West Decatur come tonight.

"Whoever will, let him come and take the water of life freely." "Whoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." "Prepare to meet thy God." Committee Chairman.

ELKS ADMONISHED
BY THEIR LEADER
TO OBEY DRY LAW

ATLANTIC CITY, July 8.—Members of the Order of Elks must not seek to evade the prohibition law, Bruce A. Campbell retiring grand exalted ruler declared in his final report to the National convention here today. "Every Elk is entitled to his views as to the propriety of prohibition laws," he said, "but as to the question of obedience to them, all Elks can and must have but one opinion and that is that we must in all instances serve the law."

"We must also pledge ourselves as steadfastly opposed to Bolshevism and we must pledge ourselves to aid in driving it from the Nation by all lawful means."

Commander Evangeline C. Booth of the Salvation Army the first woman ever invited to speak before the grand lodge today thanked the Elks for their support of the Salvation Army in the recent campaign.

Los Angeles has dropped out of the contest for the 1920 convention swinging her support to Chicago, which is the probable winner. In return, Los Angeles will be supported by Chicago for the 1921 convention.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The Army of Occupation comprising the first five divisions of regulars is believed to be homeward bound. Some are on the water and others are hourly arriving at Brest. It is assured that all will be on the water by July 16th. It is also announced that the Second Division whose history is so well remembered by all will sail before the end of this month. The Third Division which was thrown into the Marne battle and helped to stem the onward rush of the German army in the memorable days of July 15 to 18th of last year has been released for early return, probably early in August.

WILSON BACK AT DESK
READY FOR THE BATTLEWILL START HIS NATION WIDE TOUR
WITHIN TWO WEEKS. TRIP WILL
CARRY HIM TO PACIFIC COAST

STAGE SET FOR LEAGUE STRUGGLE

WASHINGTON, July 9.—President Wilson is back at his desk today after an absence of many months and is prepared to start his campaign for the ratification of the League of Nations covenant. The Senate in anticipation of the President's appearance tomorrow declared a half holiday today. The stage is all set for one of the greatest political struggles in years.

The President will start his tour of the nation within the next two weeks, it was announced from the White House today. His itinerary will take him to the Pacific coast where it is stated he will review the newly formed Pacific fleet. The President will keep in touch with the various Senate committees which will have charge of the covenant and will be within call at anytime they desire his presence or his explanations. Especially will he keep in touch with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

By L. C. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Every member of both parties has received telegraphic orders from party heads to be in Washington tomorrow and be prepared to stay on the job until the treaty is disposed of. It is expected that there will be a full attendance of senators and in case where there must be absences, the pairs will be arranged so that the result will not be affected when the votes are taken. League advocates are insisting that the President talk "brass tacks" and while the President has his speech already prepared it will not be surprising if he should extemporize to meet any contingency.

By W. R. HARGAVES

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 9.—Commander Scott of the R-34 announced today that his craft would positively start her return journey tomorrow morning at four o'clock. The weather conditions are favorable. He will steer his craft over New York City for an hour before starting on his trans-Atlantic cruise. The U. S. weather bureau today notified Commander Scott to start his journey within the next twenty-four hours as conditions were now most favorable.

LANSING TO SET SAIL FOR HOME ON FRIDAY. HIS SUCCESSOR NOT NAMED

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Secretary of State Lansing will sail from Brest for the United States on Friday, Under Secretary of State Polk announced this afternoon.

No successor has been named to take Secretary Lansing's place at the peace treaty conference it was announced at the White House today. Polk is expected however to be the man who will be named. A conference between Mr. Polk and the president is announced and this would indicate that he is to be the man.

BILL WOULD PROHIBIT PRESIDENT
OF U. S. TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, July 9.—A bill prohibiting the President from leaving this country during his term of office has been introduced in the House by Representative Campbell of Kansas. The bill provides that it will be unlawful for the President of the U. S. to conduct any presidential business at any other place except Washington the capital of the nation. With the introduction of the bill Representative Campbell made a statement in which he said "President Wilson in going abroad has succumbed to European flattery, lost his own prestige and that of his country and the United States is unpopular in Europe today because of the Wilsonian visit."

Will prices come down?

Spillage of food is an economic loss and next to criminal if allowed or permitted when there are methods of getting it into the hands of the consumer. And there are methods of placing it and salvaging at least a part of the value. Clearfield is now without, and never has had a bargain counter of foodstuffs, particularly of vegetables and in remembering this fact we recall instances of seeing almost whole wagon loads of spoiled foodstuffs being hauled to the garbage dump.

We have seen apples, pineapples, cabbage, fresh fruits and the whole line of vegetable and fruit products put on the counters in fresh condition at a certain price per unit of measure and remain at that price until the last individual apple or orange had rotted to the core. So long as the fruit is in good condition the merchant has a right to get his price but when it appears that some of the fruit is going to spoil the merchant owes it to his trade and to himself to put that fruit on the bargain counter at cut prices and take his loss there instead of contributing to the smells of the garbage pile. There are hundreds of shoppers in Clearfield waiting for these bargains and getting a bargain in pines once in a while will only serve to whet the appetite for the bigger, luscious ones that will come in the next shipment. The oftener any merchant moves his stock the less frequent will be his calls on the bank for renewals.

We do not presume to know the merchandising business but are giving in these articles the substance of what we have gleaned from responsible authorities and from our observations during the past three years and especially of the war time period when food was scarce and it was being hauled to the garbage pile.

The modern department store practices the idea that we have in mind. When they find they have an overstock of any articles they move them by repricing. When they find the summer season waning they clear their shelves—at a sacrifice—take their loss—and incidentally make friends of their customers who never fail to come back to look over the new stocks which arrive within the next two or three weeks. The department store has found this to be a good policy—good business—in fact they have found it necessary in order to finance their business and protect themselves from large losses. Now there is no reason why the department store could not hold their goods over from season to season but the fruits and vegetable dealer cannot do this without losing all. If, therefore, it is good business for the department store it is obviously better business for the dealer in perishable goods.

There are two more features of the fresh fruit problem which we shall touch upon; display of fruits and telling the customers of the bargains and sacrifices.

It is not the best policy to display only the best fruit. The bargain counter has its place and a prominent one at that. Too often an over ripe case of fruit is set back of the counter or in an obscure corner when it would move quickly if put on the bargain counter garnished with a reduced price tag. And more often than not a purchaser of a bargain will carry home some choice fruit as well.

With the daily newspapers the merchant has a method of letting his customers know about the things he has to sell to the mutual advantage of both. A merchant in a nearby town carries a regular space in his local newspaper into which each morning he inserts his specials for the day. They may be over ripe bananas, lines, tomatoes, peaches or a hundred other articles and that merchant has a reputation of keeping the best fruit in the city as well as passing along a bargain in something every day. The advertising space he uses costs him only about $15 per month. He considers it the cheapest salesman on his force. We do not cite this case because it boosts our own stock in trade but because it is a factor that will tend to reduce the cost of living and result, we believe in saving to everybody.

There is going to be no reduction in the cost of producing fruits and vegetables. In fact it appears that the cost will be greater as there used to be an abundance of certain fruits in this section which are no longer being cultivated and nothing but an increase in the price of these fruits will stimulate production. However, if we can eliminate spoilage, wastage and a considerable cost of merchandising such as long credits and deliveries, we will do much toward reducing the cost of living by getting more for our money and taking advantage of seasonable goods. Co-operation between the housewife, the farmer and the merchant will bring about a reduction in our living cost.

4th Of July Address

(An address of welcome to the returned Soldiers, Sailors and War Workers, delivered at Clearfield, Pennsylvania, July 4th, 1919 by J. Frank Snyder.)

Soldiers, Sailors and War Workers:

We are rejoiced to have you with us today and on behalf of this community I bid you welcome. Welcome home again.

This gathering of your fellow citizens and the celebration they have planned for this day is in honor of their heroic sons and daughters who so bravely upheld the honor of these United States and contributed so much to the success of American Arms in the greatest of all wars.

The magnitude of their demonstration in your honor is bounded only by their limitations; their gratitude to you knows no bounds; their enthusiasm is but expressive of the sentiments of this whole community towards each and every one of you—again I bid you welcome.

You have been peculiarly favored to have had an active part in a contest involving the whole future of mankind in the affairs of the world and honored beyond your fellows who were not privileged to wear the uniform, in that your names are inscribed on the roll of the victors who dealt a death blow to militarism and did so much towards the establishment of right and justice upon the earth—we are proud of you.

That we may not lose sight of what the splendid victory you helped win means it may be well for us to refer briefly to the events that led up to the entry of these United States into the war and the part our country took in it.

The Central Powers of Europe, having built up the most perfect military machine began hostilities following the declaration of war, on July 28, 1914, by Austria against Serbia, and within the next two years had involved in the struggle practically all of Europe, in fact the whole civilized world except the continent of America and had carried on their military operations so successfully that the result of the conflict was in doubt with the Central Powers in the apparent ascendancy.

Then it was that the allied governments appealed to these United States and sent their commissions here to persuade our government to make common cause with them and enter the war against Germany. The representations of these commissions failed for the time being our neutrality though sorely tried was maintained and our entry into the war delayed.

Germany's announced submarine warfare against commerce in the early spring of 1917 and her repeated violations of international law resulting in the loss of the lives and property of innocent and non-combatant men, women and children was construed to be a challenge to us not only to vindicate our own rights but to help protect the rights of all mankind. We accepted the challenge and, on April 6th, 1917, entered the war against Germany.

To the everlasting honor of our country let it be recorded in history that we did not enter the war for plunder, for the extension of our domains or any new sovereignty, but only for the welfare of mankind.

In his ever memorable message of April 2, 1917, upon which Congress declared war against the Imperial German government, President Wilson made it plain that our motive would not be revenge—that our object would be

"to vindicate the principles of peace and justice in the life of the world against selfish and autocratic power and set up among the really free and self-governed peoples of the world such a concert of purpose and action as will henceforth insure the observance of these principles."

These are the principles of the Declaration of Independence; the principles upon which the government of these United States of America is founded; the principles which were promulgated to the world upon Pennsylvania soil one hundred and forty-three years ago today, when the Bell in Independence Hall proclaimed "Liberty throughout the land and to all the inhabitants thereof."

The President realized that it was "a fearful thing to lead this great peaceful nation into war—into the most terrible and disastrous of all wars civilization itself seeming to be in the balance"

but he contended that "the right is more precious than peace."

Having entered the war we set about to put the whole force of the nation into it and in one and a half years we had as great a force in Europe as it had taken England three years to put into France—a monument to the efficiency of a peaceful nation.

Four million eight hundred thousand men served in the armed forces of the nation during the war and other millions stood ready to serve their country.

You will recall how carefully you were selected for the service, then drilled and trained for the part to be played in our military operations and not underestimated the strength or prowess of our foe—and only men morally and physically fit were taken. What an honor to have been chosen a member of such an army, to have belonged to such a navy.

We had every confidence in you and, as you left us to take your places in the service of our country, we promised to get behind you. We admonished you never to allow the flag to be dragged upon the ground, and expressed the hope that everyone of you would return a hero.

Well, Clearfield county kept her promise. She subscribed every issue of Liberty Loan bonds and the Victory Loan went over the top in each Red Cross drive, and supported all the war activities having as their object your comfort and welfare.

You and your comrades, including those who rest with "the nations honored dead" did your part and you have reflected credit not only upon this county, but upon this grand old Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and upon the government under whose flag you fought. You added a lustre to the flag that shall never be dimmed—to us you return as Heroes.

The victory won made certain by the signing of the treaty of peace is notice to the world that the United States of America will not stand for the "old idea of plunder and trafficking in peoples and territory."

Today the United States of America is not only respected by all the world but trusted. Convinced that we stand for fairplay, are honest and champions of the right, the nations of the world are appealing to us and seek our friendship. What a victory for American Arms, what a triumph for American diplomacy.

You, who have done so much to bring about this happy condition, have now put away your guns and sheathed your swords—the machine guns are silent and the cannon's roar is no longer heard on the field of battle. You have come back to take your places as plain American citizens. To share with us, who for one reason or another were not privileged to serve as your comrades in arms the duties and responsibilities of citizenship—you are needed here.

We are entering upon a new era in the life of the world a period of reconstruction calling for wise leadership a broad statesmanship and unselfish citizenship.

As one of the results of the great victory you helped win powerful governments have been dismembered and new nations created out of them—the right of self-government has been extended to peoples who never knew the meaning of liberty although they have fought centuries for it. These new nations are looking to us for guidance, as a child in its infancy they appeal to us for succor.

The establishment of these new Democracies is a safeguard to our own institutions of Freedom and Liberty—they are a further and new guaranty of Freedom and Liberty to all mankind the hope of humanity. As a nation we should assume our full part in the protection of these weaker peoples and take the leadership in the uplift of humanity.

That we may be able to maintain this high position of trust and confidence reposed in us it will be necessary that we safeguard and strengthen our own institution of government. This we can do by a strict obedience to and fearless execution of our laws—herein lies our safety.

Campaigns of violence against constituted authority must be discouraged—suppressed. Respect for the flag to which the blood of your comrades and your heroism has added a new lustre, must be exacted of all who reside within our borders.

Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and War Workers sons and daughters of old Clearfield, heroes of the World's greatest war, we hail you as the defenders of the flag and ask that you make us your comrades in safeguarding this great Republic—in perpetuating this government "of the people, by the people for the people."

OBITUARY

JOHN EMMETT McDONALD

J. E. McDonald, who died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Clearfield hospital following an accident at Clearfield Fire Brick Works No. 2 in which he was run over by a car of clay, was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald and was born in Ridgway, Pa., fifty-five years ago.

The family moved to Clearfield when he was a boy and he grew to manhood here and remained a citizen of this community until about fifteen years ago when he removed with his family to Johnsonburg. His wife died there some eight years ago, her remains having been brought to Clearfield for interment.

The deceased followed brick making practically all his life and was yard foreman of a brick plant at Johnsonburg until a few years ago when he was chosen Chief of Police of that town and served very acceptably in that capacity until about one year ago when he resigned to accept a position as Special Officer with the B. & P. Railway Co. He resigned this position a few months ago and again returned to Clearfield and secured a position at No. 2 Brickworks.

Jack McDonald was a genial, companionable man of more than average intelligence. He was well read and took a keen interest in public men and events. Generous hearted and staunchly loyal in his friendships he possessed a wide circle of admiring friends to whom news of his untimely end will bring deep sorrow. A lifelong, devoted member of the Catholic church, he died fortified by all the satisfying rites of his church.

He is survived by two adopted children, J. Emmitt, of Johnsonburg, Pa., and Mrs. Patrick Cunningham, of Conemaugh, Pa. He is also survived by four brothers, viz: M. P., of Clearfield; Dennis, of Hayes Run, Pa.; James and Lawrence S., of Pittsburgh. The funeral will be held from the home of his brother on Cherry street Friday morning with a requiem high mass in St. Francis church at 9 o'clock. Interment in the family plot in old Catholic cemetery.

MAKING JIM CROW BITE THE DUST

Rube Robinson, Roy Strickland and Jim Smith, three representative Curwensville citizens, have banded themselves together in a crow-slaughting compact, whose aim and object is the absolute destruction of all the crows in Pike and adjoining townships.

In addition to arming themselves with pump guns they have secured an equipment consisting of Robinson's "crow bound," Strickland's "crow call" and Smith's 20 ft. "pole" which is used to propel the dog up to the lower limbs of any tree an injured crow may take refuge on.

The Nimrods start out each morning before daylight and when they reach a fog infested wood Strickland sounds his "call," the crows answer, Rube's hound gets into action and when he gets the "black devils" treed the shooting begins. Strickland "poles" the dog after the cripples.

The trio thus far have bagged 186 crows and are hotfooting it to the front in the race for the Dupont prize in the crow-elimination contest the powder people are staging.

Keeps Uric Acid Out Of Joints

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry, avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folk who are subject to rheumatism.

RUBIN & CHERRY CARNIVAL DRAWS IMMENSE CROWDS

The Rubin & Cherry shows drew an immense crowd to carnival grounds last evening and the different shows were very well patronized. The high class attractions are drawing large audiences to every show and as a result the firemen can see "mortgage burning day" rapidly approaching on horseback. Let the good work continue. Visit the grounds and help the firemen while enjoying the pleasing Hawaiian theatre, look upon the page clipped from the life of Buffalo Bill at the big I. X. L. Wild West show. See Prof. Rhule make his trained flees lick the Kaiser, enjoy the rhythm, swing and music of the old plantation melodies, take your laughing way through the mystic mazes of Joyland, perambulate to the baby show and examine that wonderful baby, then visit the "Snake Show" now that the country's dry. See Zeke Shumway and his handsome wife risk their lives in the death-defying motordrome and by this time you will be ready for the breath of fresh air which you can gasp for on the ever-popular Whip and if you desire to ascend to a higher strata hit old Eli's Ferris wheel and "sit there" and wind up on the big merry-go-round where there is room for yourself, your wife and your affinity all abreast and all in a row on the triple mounted horses the machine is equipped with.

You don't want the Sheriff to take our fire truck and if you follow the above directions—the shaking will be well done on the Whip—you will add to your enjoyment and the length of your life while assisting the fire boys to salvage their machine from the hands of the "money changers," who would sue out an injunction if you attempted to refuse them a place in the temple now.

Zeke Shumway, America's champion motor cyclist is in the dumps. Zeke has the motordrome at the carnival. It is a high class attraction but a jinx has been pursuing Zeke about all season and he wants to shake it here in Clearfield. Zeke had his "howl" all set to open Monday night but fell down on it at the last minute on account of some of his machinery going bad on him. He got everything fixed yesterday and after giving two shows was forced to turn the crowd away on account of a flat tire. What Zeke said quietly melted the cement on the patch he was trying to apply to the puncture, but everything is in shape for tonight. Drop in and help Zeke lay the jinx but don't ask him about it.

One of the real features of the Rubin & Cherry shows is the big free attraction, the dive from the top of an illuminated 85-foot ladder into six feet of water by "Little Mollie," the most famous female diver in the country. "Little Mollie" not "Mollie Dear," or "Mollie Oh!" has made a great hit in her diving act from Maine to California and has also pleased the Royal Highness, the late King Eddie of England before coming to Hamerica.

"Little Mollie" makes her desperate plunge at 11 o'clock each evening and every evening at the appointed hour the entire carnival crowd surrounds the big tank to be in at the splash. The carnival pleased everybody last evening again. Go up and look it over.

The Fact of the Matter

YOU can see for yourself that the Chandler is the most closely priced fine car in the whole American market.

Printer's ink lends itself to the presentation of claims and facts alike. We make it our purpose, in speaking of the Chandler, to deal with facts only.

And this we believe to be the fact, that no other automobile, built so well, built of such good materials, built in such good design, is priced within hundreds of dollars of the Chandler price.

The Chandler motor is truly a great motor. There is none better. Fifty thousand Chandler owners know it. And countless thousands of their friends and neighbors know it. Now in its seventh year of constant development, without radical change of design, it approximates perfection.

The whole Chandler chassis, simple and sturdy, is dependable and enduring.

And Chandler bodies, graceful in line, roomy and comfortable, luxuriously upholstered and beautifully finished, are suggestive of the best custom work.

"PEACE BRINGS NEW TASK" PRESIDENT TELLS NEW YORKERS

NEW YORK, July 8.—"The formulation of the peace creates a new task," said President Wilson in Carnegie hall late this afternoon. "This is a just peace," he added, "which if it can be preserved will save the world from unnecessary bloodshed. The great task will be to preserve it. I have come back with my heart full of enthusiasm, to throw my influence in with you to see that the peace is observed."

The President seemed a trifle careworn though his eyes were bright, his cheeks tanned and his voice strong and clear. As he walked upon the stage his step was firm and vigorous. He smiled with pleasure at the tumultuous and prolonged applause which greeted him. Cleveland H. Dodge, acting as a volunteer cheer leader, started the cheering over again when it seemed to be lagging.

The President's arrival was announced by the crashing strains of "Over There," the tune which he made the keynote of his speech on the eve of his departure for Europe last March. As he was about to take his seat after the cheering had subsided, Major Scott, commander of the R-34, accompanied by General Maitland, Royal Air Force observer on the dirigible, and General Charlton, air attaché of the British embassy, were brought forward and introduced. The President smilingly shook hands with all three, while the band played "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The opening speech of welcome was made by Rodman Wanamaker, who said:

"He has brought back our flag more hallowed than ever and with all our hearts we must stand behind him and for him."

Then came brief addresses by Governor Smith and Mayor Hylan. Another outburst of cheers followed Mayor Hylan's introduction. The cheering finally was drowned by the police band striking up "Marching Through Georgia." The President, who had been delayed in reaching the hall, seemed impatient to have the preliminaries out of the way. He began by saying: "I am not going to make you a real speech. I am a bit alarmed at how many speeches I have in my system undelivered, but they are from the mind. I want to say this afternoon only a few words from the heart. I do not believe the welcome you extend to me is as warm as that I extend to you. Jerseyman as I am, this is the first time I ever though Hoboken was beautiful."

He said his thought had always been of home while he was away. "I have really been the most homesick man in the American Expeditionary Force," he added. He then paid a warm tribute to the American soldiers and told of the welcome which awaited them wherever they were sent in France, because it was known they brought protection to the people.

"Those boys were a constant reminder to me of home," he continued. "They walked the streets as if they knew they belonged wherever free men lived."

Of his work at the peace conference and the vision of a free world which led America to enter the war, he said: "I am afraid some people—some persons—do not understand that vision." As for himself he said: "I have never had a moment's doubt as to where the heart and purpose of this people lay."

To those who ask whether America would come to the assistance of peoples menaced by oppression in the future, he said his reply had been: "Of course America will come in and help; she cannot do otherwise."

The peoples freed from the yoke of Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Germany, he said, have begun to breathe the air of liberty and see the dawn of freedom. "They have known," he added, "that America's presence in the conference and in the war was the guarantee of the result."

At the conclusion of his speech, which lasted about 20 minutes, the President was driven to the station where he boarded a special train leaving for Washington at 6:12 P. M.

Leipold and son Arnold, accompanied by Mrs. Jean Shaw Bailey and Miss Clara Shaw, left this afternoon by motor for Columbus, Ohio, where they will attend the Methodist Centenary and visit with Dick Leipold, who is one of the Clearfield boys on guard and guide duty at the Centenary. They expect to be gone until July 15th.

Mrs. Reed Bloom of Ridge avenue who has been ill for several days is slowly improving.

Mrs. Jas. P. Robinson and Misses Emma and Ruth Robinson entertained a number of ladies at their home on West Main street Tuesday afternoon. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by the guests.

Miss Mary Harley entertained a number of her young friends last evening at her home on Ridge avenue. The event was in honor of the hostess' birthday and the guests surely made it a birthday to be remembered. Dainty refreshments were served.

Word was received last evening of death of Walter Broome, a former Curwensville boy now living at Brookville, Pa., which occurred at Philadelphia yesterday.

Walter Broome was the youngest son of Henry and Martha Broome, and was born in Curwensville about 35 years ago, where he resided until he reached early manhood. He was educated in the public schools of the town, and when he finished the high school course, entered the hardware store of his grandfather, Jacob Bilger. He remained a clerk for some years, but securing a position as a commercial traveler for a Pittsburgh house, he went on the road, making Brookville his headquarters. There he met, wooed and married Miss Anna Murphy, a young lady of that town. He purchased a home and has lived in Brookville since his marriage. He was employed by the Pittsburgh firm for a number of years, or until a change was made in the firm by the death of the senior member. Then it was that Mr. Broome resigned his position as traveling salesman and entered a business of shipping ore, mined near

COURT NOTFS

Clarence Wisor, by his attorney W. A. Ragerty, begun an action for divorce in the Prothonotary's office this morning. He asks to be divorced from his wife, Lavina Wisor, his statement showing they were married Nov. 26, 1913, and he was forced by reason of his wife's conduct to dissolve the partnership June 24, 1919. His names Paul Luzier as being the cause of his marital troubles.

The Supervisors of Bradford township petitioned the court yesterday for permission to vacate a public road three-fourths of a mile in length extending from near the home of A. B. Lansberry at "Bishtown" to a point at the Susquehanna river at or near the George Jordan place. The road is said to be useless and a burden to the township.

Edward W. Pierce filed a divorce application in the Prothonotary's office yesterday morning in which he seeks to be legally separated from his wife Ida M. Price. The Prices were married Feb. 28, 1916, and on Feb. 29th, 1916, the wife cried "quits" and beat it and has been going ever since.

Bertha M. Casker by her attorney M. Ward Fleming, asks for a divorce from Dell Roy Casker, who she married July 4, 1915, and whom she was forced to leave for good and all on May 22, 1918. According to the record of wrongs filed the husband was a son-of-a-gun and even attempted to escape the draft by reciting that he was the father of twins whereas the couple never had any children.

STOP THAT ACHE!

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of that pain and lameness! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Many Clearfield people have used them and know how effective they are.

Here's a Clearfield case. Mrs. Paul Kline, 226 Sixth street, gave the following statement Dec. 7, 1915: "Some years ago I was troubled with pains across the small of my back and my back ached and throbbled all the time. It was painful for me to bend my body in any way and this trouble kept me awake at night. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills so I used some, procuring them at Thatcher's Drug Store. Doan's entirely removed the trouble and since that time, my back and kidneys have given me no annoyance. I gladly recommend this medicine to others suffering that way."

On Feb. 19, 1919, Mrs. Kline added: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills in some years now. I still think as highly of them as I did when I recommended them in 1915."

Just three weeks ago he was in Curwensville attending the funeral of his mother, and one week later was in town again, disposing of her personal effects, and appeared to be in full vigor of manhood. His death announcement yesterday came as a shock to his Curwensville relatives and friends. His body will be taken to his Brookville home when his funeral will be held. Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades; turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw his through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

WARRANTS OUT FOR PITTSBURGH BREWERS

MARSHAL JOHN F. SHORT
SERVING THE WARRANTS

PITTSBURGH BREWING COMPANY SOLD
BEER TO SALOON CONTAINING MORE
THAN LEGAL ALCOHOLIC CONTENTS

FIRST FEDERAL STEP TO ENFORCE

PITTSBURGH, July 9.—U. S. District Attorney Crawford of the Western District of Pennsylvania made out an information today charging the Pittsburgh Brewing Company with violation of the war time prohibition law. It is charged that the Pittsburgh Brewing company sold beer containing more than one-half of one per cent. alcohol to a local saloon. The specific act under which the information is made is the Pittsburgh Brewing Company sold this beer under date of July 3d, 1919 and that upon analysis it was found to contain 1.99 per cent alcohol by weight and 2.43 per cent alcohol by volume.

The information was laid before Federal Court Judge Thompson who issued a writ requiring that the Brewing Company plead or demur. At the same time a bench warrant was issued for the eleven principal officers of the brewing company and the warrants turned over to U. S. Marshal John F. Short for immediate service. Federal officers were also given a search warrant under which authority they will raid the brewery for additional evidence of dry law violation.

This is the first Federal action in this section of the state which has for its purpose the enforcing of war time prohibition.

The sale was that of ten barrels of beer sold to Sam Olmstead, a saloon keeper on Diamond street in Pittsburgh at a price of $17 per barrel. The evidence was gathered by Special Agent R. B. Spencer of the Department of Justice.

OF ITALY. FOOD RIOTS CONTINUE

PARIS, July 9.—Reports from Italy indicate that a number of the principal cities of Italy are under control of soviets, some composed of radicals and others of conservatives. Conditions in those where the radicals are in control are bad but in those where the conservative element have taken control there appears to be good conditions. In Florence a committee of five conservatives are at the helm.

By CAMILL CIANFERRO

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ROME, ITALY, July 9.—Cavalry is patrolling the principal streets of Rome today dispersing the food rioters and making a vain attempt to end the disturbances which have continued for several days. Most of the stores are closed but the authorities have ordered all to open their doors at once. Drastic penalties are provided for those who refuse to open their doors to the trade and where there is a refusal the goods will be confiscated by the government and distributed.

Conflicting Thoughts

DRYS IN CONGRESS
SCORE BIG POINT
ON WET FORCES

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The fight to outlaw light wines and beers was launched in the House today when the "drys" succeeded in getting out the prohibition enforcement bill over the protests of the "wets" and a number of unexpected reinforcements who charged that unfair advantages was being taken because of the absence of nearly half the members.

Contrary to the expectation of all the wets and many of the drys who thought it would be impossible to begin consideration of the measure before Thursday the rules committee reported out a special rule making it in order for immediate consideration. The vote on the adoption of this rule, considered as a test of strength, showed the drys in overwhelming majority.

Party lines were obliterated and the vote was 225 to 59 with one voting present. With one vote the wets, however, claim that a large number of their supporters are absent from the city and will be on hand to vote on an amendment to be offered later.

Reading of the measure for amendment under the five minute rule will extend into next week. It is not likely that a final vote can be taken before Tuesday.

The wets indicated today that they will use every possible parliamentary means of prolonging consideration of the bill. They started a filibuster while the rule was up and continued it during general debate in the committee of the whole. Points of no quorums were raised three times and other moves were made to delay the progress of the bill.

The drys finally stopped the filibuster for the time being by keeping a quorum present in the hall. They declared tonight that when the bill comes up again they will be prepared to resist all dilatory tactics.

PROGRESS OF BRADFORD
REVIVAL

The revival meeting in the old Bradford church was well attended last night. Rev. H. A. Buffington of Phillipsburg preached a strong sermon on the subject "Jesus the Friend". An old fashioned testimony meeting followed. There was one request for prayer.

This is your meeting. It will last this week only. There will be good preaching and good music every night. Phillipsburg, Digler and Woodland and Shiloh were represented last night. Let the folks from Clearfield, Wallacetown and West Decatur come tonight.

"Whoever will, let him come and take the water of life freely." "Whoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." "Prepare to meet thy God." Committee Chairman.

ELKS ADMONISHED
BY THEIR LEADER
TO OBEY DRY LAW

ATLANTIC CITY, July 8.—Members of the Order of Elks must not seek to evade the prohibition law, Bruce A. Campbell retiring grand exalted ruler declared in his final report to the National convention here today. "Every Elk is entitled to his views as to the propriety of prohibition laws," he said, "but as to the question of obedience to them, all Elks can and must have but one opinion and that is that we must in all instances serve the law."

"We must also pledge ourselves as steadfastly opposed to Bolshevism and we must pledge ourselves to aid in driving it from the Nation by all lawful means."

Commander Evangeline C. Booth of the Salvation Army the first woman ever invited to speak before the grand lodge today thanked the Elks for their support of the Salvation Army in the recent campaign.

Los Angeles has dropped out of the contest for the 1920 convention swinging her support to Chicago, which is the probable winner. In return, Los Angeles will be supported by Chicago for the 1921 convention.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The Army of Occupation comprising the first five divisions of regulars is believed to be homeward bound. Some are on the water and others are hourly arriving at Brest. It is assured that all will be on the water by July 16th. It is also announced that the Second Division whose history is so well remembered by all will sail before the end of this month. WILSON BACK AT DESK
READY FOR THE BATTLE

WILL START HIS NATION WIDE TOUR
WITHIN TWO WEEKS. TRIP WILL
CARRY HIM TO PACIFIC COAST

STAGE SET FOR LEAGUE STRUGGLE

WASHINGTON, July 9.—President Wilson is back at his desk today after an absence of many months and is prepared to start his campaign for the ratification of the League of Nations covenant. The Senate in anticipation of the President's appearance tomorrow declared a half holiday today. The stage is all set for one of the greatest political struggles in years.

The President will start his tour of the nation within the next two weeks, it was announced from the White House today. His itinerary will take him to the Pacific coast where it is stated he will review the newly formed Pacific fleet. The President will keep in touch with the various Senate committees which will have charge of the covenant and will be within call at anytime they desire his presence or his explanations. Especially will he keep in touch with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

By L. C. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Every member of both parties has received telegraphic orders from party heads to be in Washington tomorrow and be prepared to stay on the job until the treaty is disposed of. It is expected that there will be a full attendance of senators and in case where there must be absences, the pairs will be arranged so that the result will not be affected when the votes are taken. League advocates are insisting that the President talk "brass tacks" and while the President has his speech already prepared it will not be surprising if he should extemporize to meet any contingency.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Secretary of State Lansing will sail from Brest for the United States on Friday, Under Secretary of State Polk announced this afternoon.

No successor has been named to take Secretary Lansing's place at the peace treaty conference it was announced at the White House today. Polk is expected however to be the man who will be named. A conference between Mr. Polk and the president is announced and this would indicate that he is to be the man.

OF U. S. TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, July 9.—A bill prohibiting the President from leaving this country during his term of office has been introduced in the House by Representative Campbell of Kansas. The bill provides that it will be unlawful for the President of the U. S. to conduct any presidential business at any other place except Washington the capital of the nation. With the introduction of the bill Representative Campbell made a statement in which he said "President Wilson in going abroad has succumbed to European flattery, lost his own prestige and that of his country and the United States is unpopular in Europe today because of the Wilsonian visit."

Will prices come down?

Spillage of food is an economic loss and next to criminal if allowed or permitted when there are methods of getting it into the hands of the consumer. And there are methods of placing it and salvaging at least a part of the value. Clearfield is now without, and never has had a bargain counter of foodstuffs, particularly of vegetables and in remembering this fact we recall instances of seeing almost whole wagon loads of spoiled foodstuffs being hauled to the garbage dump.

We have seen apples, pineapples, cabbage, fresh fruits and the whole line of vegetable and fruit products put on the counters in fresh condition at a certain price per unit of measure and remain at that price until the last individual apple or orange had rotted to the core. So long as the fruit is in good condition the merchant has a right to get his price but when it appears that some of the fruit is going to spoil the merchant owes it to his trade and to himself to put that fruit on the bargain counter at cut prices and take his loss there instead of contributing to the smells of the garbage pile. There are hundreds of shoppers in Clearfield waiting for these bargains and getting a bargain in pines once in a while will only serve to whet the appetite for the bigger, luscious ones that will come in the next shipment. The oftener any merchant moves his stock the less frequent will be his calls on the bank for renewals.

We do not presume to know the merchandising business but are giving in these articles the substance of what we have gleaned from responsible authorities and from our observations during the past three years and especially of the war time period when food was scarce and it was being hauled to the garbage pile.

The modern department store practices the idea that we have in mind. When they find they have an overstock of any articles they move them by repricing. When they find the summer season waning they clear their shelves—at a sacrifice—take their loss—and incidentally make friends of their customers who never fail to come back to look over the new stocks which arrive within the next two or three weeks. The department store has found this to be a good policy—good business—in fact they have found it necessary in order to finance their business and protect themselves from large losses. Now there is no reason why the department store could not hold their goods over from season to season but the fruits and vegetable dealer cannot do this without losing all. If, therefore, it is good business for the department store it is obviously better business for the dealer in perishable goods.

There are two more features of the fresh fruit problem which we shall touch upon; display of fruits and telling the customers of the bargains and sacrifices.

It is not the best policy to display only the best fruit. The bargain counter has its place and a prominent one at that. Too often an over ripe case of fruit is set back of the counter or in an obscure corner when it would move quickly if put on the bargain counter garnished with a reduced price tag. And more often than not a purchaser of a bargain will carry home some choice fruit as well.

With the daily newspapers the merchant has a method of letting his customers know about the things he has to sell to the mutual advantage of both. A merchant in a nearby town carries a regular space in his local newspaper into which each morning he inserts his specials for the day. They may be over ripe bananas, lines, tomatoes, peaches or a hundred other articles and that merchant has a reputation of keeping the best fruit in the city as well as passing along a bargain in something every day. The advertising space he uses costs him only about $15 per month. He considers it the cheapest salesman on his force. We do not cite this case because it boosts our own stock in trade but because it is a factor that will tend to reduce the cost of living and result, we believe in saving to everybody.

There is going to be no reduction in the cost of producing fruits and vegetables. In fact it appears that the cost will be greater as there used to be an abundance of certain fruits in this section which are no longer being cultivated and nothing but an increase in the price of these fruits will stimulate production. However, if we can eliminate spoilage, wastage and a considerable cost of merchandising such as long credits and deliveries, we will do much toward reducing the cost of living by getting more for our money and taking advantage of seasonable goods. Co-operation between the housewife, the farmer and the merchant will bring about a reduction in our living cost.

4th Of July Address

(An address of welcome to the returned Soldiers, Sailors and War Workers, delivered at Clearfield, Pennsylvania, July 4th, 1919 by J. Frank Snyder.)

Soldiers, Sailors and War Workers:

We are rejoiced to have you with us today and on behalf of this community I bid you welcome. Welcome home again.

This gathering of your fellow citizens and the celebration they have planned for this day is in honor of their heroic sons and daughters who so bravely upheld the honor of these United States and contributed so much to the success of American Arms in the greatest of all wars.

The magnitude of their demonstration in your honor is bounded only by their limitations; their gratitude to you knows no bounds; their enthusiasm is but expressive of the sentiments of this whole community towards each and every one of you—again I bid you welcome.

You have been peculiarly favored to have had an active part in a contest involving the whole future of mankind in the affairs of the world and honored beyond your fellows who were not privileged to wear the uniform, in that your names are inscribed on the roll of the victors who dealt a death blow to militarism and did so much towards the establishment of right and justice upon the earth—we are proud of you.

That we may not lose sight of what the splendid victory you helped win means it may be well for us to refer briefly to the events that led up to the entry of these United States into the war and the part our country took in it.

The Central Powers of Europe, having built up the most perfect military machine began hostilities following the declaration of war, on July 28, 1914, by Austria against Serbia, and within the next two years had involved in the struggle practically all of Europe, in fact the whole civilized world except the continent of America and had carried on their military operations so successfully that the result of the conflict was in doubt with the Central Powers in the apparent ascendancy.

Then it was that the allied governments appealed to these United States and sent their commissions here to persuade our government to make common cause with them and enter the war against Germany. The representations of these commissions failed for the time being our neutrality though sorely tried was maintained and our entry into the war delayed.

Germany's announced submarine warfare against commerce in the early spring of 1917 and her repeated violations of international law resulting in the loss of the lives and property of innocent and non-combatant men, women and children was construed to be a challenge to us not only to vindicate our own rights but to help protect the rights of all mankind. We accepted the challenge and, on April 6th, 1917, entered the war against Germany.

To the everlasting honor of our country let it be recorded in history that we did not enter the war for plunder, for the extension of our domains or any new sovereignty, but only for the welfare of mankind.

In his ever memorable message of April 2, 1917, upon which Congress declared war against the Imperial German government, President Wilson made it plain that our motive would not be revenge—that our object would be

"to vindicate the principles of peace and justice in the life of the world against selfish and autocratic power and set up among the really free and self-governed peoples of the world such a concert of purpose and action as will henceforth insure the observance of these principles."

These are the principles of the Declaration of Independence; the principles upon which the government of these United States of America is founded; the principles which were promulgated to the world upon Pennsylvania soil one hundred and forty-three years ago today, when the Bell in Independence Hall proclaimed "Liberty throughout the land and to all the inhabitants thereof."

The President realized that it was "a fearful thing to lead this great peaceful nation into war—into the most terrible and disastrous of all wars civilization itself seeming to be in the balance"

but he contended that "the right is more precious than peace."

Having entered the war we set about to put the whole force of the nation into it and in one and a half years we had made a force in Europe as it had taken England three years to put into France—a monument to the efficiency of a peaceful nation.

Four million eight hundred thousand men served in the armed forces of the nation during the war and other millions stood ready to serve their country.

You will recall how carefully you were selected for the service, then drilled and trained for the part to be played in our military operations and not underestimated the strength or prowess of our foe—and only men morally and physically fit were taken. What an honor to have been chosen a member of such an army, to have belonged to such a navy.

We had every confidence in you and, as you left us to take your places in the service of our country, we promised to get behind you. We admonished you never to allow the flag to be dragged upon the ground, and expressed the hope that everyone of you would return a hero.

Well, Clearfield county kept her promise. She subscribed every issue of Liberty Loan bonds and the Victory Loan went over the top in each Red Cross drive, and supported all the war activities having as their object your comfort and welfare.

You and your comrades, including those who rest with "the nations honored dead" did your part and you have reflected credit not only upon this county, but upon this grand old Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and upon the government under whose flag you fought. You added a lustre to the flag that shall never be dimmed—to us you return as Heroes.

The victory won made certain by the signing of the treaty of peace is notice to the world that the United States of America will not stand for the "old idea of plunder and trafficking in peoples and territory."

Today the United States of America is not only respected by all the world but trusted. Convinced that we stand for fairplay, are honest and champions of the right, the nations of the world are appealing to us and seek our friendship. What a victory for American Arms, what a triumph for American diplomacy.

You, who have done so much to bring about this happy condition, have now put away your guns and sheathed your swords—the machine guns are silent and the cannon's roar is no longer heard on the field of battle. You have come back to take your places as plain American citizens. To share with us, who for one reason or another were not privileged to serve as your comrades in arms the duties and responsibilities of citizenship—you are needed here.

We are entering upon a new era in the life of the world a period of reconstruction calling for wise leadership a broad statesmanship and unselfish citizenship.

As one of the results of the great victory you helped win powerful governments have been dismembered and new nations created out of them—the right of self-government has been extended to peoples who never knew the meaning of liberty although they have fought centuries for it. These new nations are looking to us for guidance, as a child in its infancy they appeal to us for succor.

The establishment of these new Democracies is a safeguard to our own institutions of Freedom and Liberty—they are a further and new guaranty of Freedom and Liberty to all mankind the hope of humanity. As a nation we should assume our full part in the protection of these weaker peoples and take the leadership in the uplift of humanity.

That we may be able to maintain this high position of trust and confidence reposed in us it will be necessary that we safeguard and strengthen our own institution of government. This we can do by a strict obedience to and fearless execution of our laws—herein lies our safety.

Campaigns of violence against constituted authority must be discouraged—suppressed. Respect for the flag to which the blood of your comrades and your heroism has added a new lustre, must be exacted of all who reside within our borders.

Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and War Workers sons and daughters of old Clearfield, heroes of the World's greatest war, we hail you as the defenders of the flag and ask that you make us your comrades in safeguarding this great Republic—in perpetuating this government "of the people, by the people for the people."

OBITUARY

JOHN EMMETT McDONALD

J. E. McDonald, who died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Clearfield hospital following an accident at Clearfield Fire Brick Works No. 2 in which he was run over by a car of clay, was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald and was born in Ridgway, Pa., fifty-five years ago.

The family moved to Clearfield when he was a boy and he grew to manhood here and remained a citizen of this community until about fifteen years ago when he removed with his family to Johnsonburg. His wife died there some eight years ago, her remains having been brought to Clearfield for interment.

The deceased followed brick making practically all his life and was yard foreman of a brick plant at Johnsonburg until a few years ago when he was chosen Chief of Police of that town and served very acceptably in that capacity until about one year ago when he resigned to accept a position as Special Officer with the B. & P. Railway Co. He resigned this position a few months ago and again returned to Clearfield and secured a position at No. 2 Brickworks.

Jack McDonald was a genial, companionable man of more than average intelligence. He was well read and took a keen interest in public men and events. Generous hearted and staunchly loyal in his friendships he possessed a wide circle of admiring friends to whom news of his untimely end will bring deep sorrow. A lifelong, devoted member of the Catholic church, he died fortified by all the satisfying rites of his church.

He is survived by two adopted children, J. Emmitt, of Johnsonburg, Pa., and Mrs. Patrick Cunningham, of Conemaugh, Pa. He is also survived by four brothers, viz: M. P., of Clearfield; Dennis, of Hayes Run, Pa.; James and Lawrence S., of Pittsburgh. The funeral will be held from the home of his brother on Cherry street Friday morning with a requiem high mass in St. Francis church at 9 o'clock. Interment in the family plot in old Catholic cemetery.

MAKING JIM CROW BITE THE DUST

Rube Robinson, Roy Strickland and Jim Smith, three representative Curwensville citizens, have banded themselves together in a crow-slaughting compact, whose aim and object is the absolute destruction of all the crows in Pike and adjoining townships.

In addition to arming themselves with pump guns they have secured an equipment consisting of Robinson's "crow bound," Strickland's "crow call" and Smith's 20 ft. "pole" which is used to propel the dog up to the lower limbs of any tree an injured crow may take refuge on.

The Nimrods start out each morning before daylight and when they reach a fog infested wood Strickland sounds his "call," the crows answer, Rube's hound gets into action and when he gets the "black devils" treed the shooting begins. Strickland "poles" the dog after the cripples.

The trio thus far have bagged 186 crows and are hotfooting it to the front in the race for the Dupont prize in the crow-elimination contest the powder people are staging.

Keeps Uric Acid Out Of Joints

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry, avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folk who are subject to rheumatism.

RUBIN & CHERRY CARNIVAL DRAWS IMMENSE CROWDS

The Rubin & Cherry shows drew an immense crowd to carnival grounds last evening and the different shows were very well patronized. The high class attractions are drawing large audiences to every show and as a result the firemen can see "mortgage burning day" rapidly approaching on horseback. Let the good work continue. Visit the grounds and help the firemen while enjoying the pleasing Hawaiian theatre, look upon the page clipped from the life of Buffalo Bill at the big I. X. L. Wild West show. See Prof. Rhule make his trained fleas lick the Kaiser, enjoy the rhythm, swing and music of the old plantation melodies, take your laughing way through the mystic mazes of Joyland, perambulate to the baby show and examine that wonderful baby, then visit the "Snake Show" now that the country's dry. See Zeke Shumway and his handsome wife risk their lives in the death-defying motordrome and by this time you will be ready for the breath of fresh air which you can gasp for on the ever-popular Whip and if you desire to ascend to a higher strata hit old Eli's Ferris wheel and "sit there" and wind up on the big merry-go-round where there is room for yourself, your wife and your affinity all abreast and all in a row on the triple mounted horses the machine is equipped with.

You don't want the Sheriff to take our fire truck and if you follow the above directions—the shaking will be well done on the Whip—you will add to your enjoyment and the length of your life while assisting the fire boys to salvage their machine from the hands of the "money changers," who would sue out an injunction if you attempted to refuse them a place in the temple now.

Zeke Shumway, America's champion motor cyclist is in the dumps. Zeke has the motordrome at the carnival. It is a high class attraction but a jinx has been pursuing Zeke about all season and he wants to shake it here in Clearfield. Zeke had his "howl" all set to open Monday night but fell down on it at the last minute on account of some of his machinery going bad on him. He got everything fixed yesterday and after giving two shows was forced to turn the crowd away on account of a flat tire. What Zeke said quietly melted the cement on the patch he was trying to apply to the puncture, but everything is in shape for tonight. Drop in and help Zeke lay the jinx but don't ask him about it.

One of the real features of the Rubin & Cherry shows is the big free attraction, the dive from the top of an illuminated 85-foot ladder into six feet of water by "Little Mollie," the most famous female diver in the country. "Little Mollie" not "Mollie Dear," or "Mollie Oh!" has made a great hit in her diving act from Maine to California and has also pleased the Royal Highness, the late King Eddie of England before coming to Hamerica.

"Little Mollie" makes her desperate plunge at 11 o'clock each evening and every evening at the appointed hour the entire carnival crowd surrounds the big tank to be in at the splash. The carnival pleased everybody last evening again. Go up and look it over.

The Fact of the Matter

YOU can see for yourself that the Chandler is the most closely priced fine car in the whole American market.

Printer's ink lends itself to the presentation of claims and facts alike. We make it our purpose, in speaking of the Chandler, to deal with facts only.

And this we believe to be the fact, that no other automobile, built so well, built of such good materials, built in such good design, is priced within hundreds of dollars of the Chandler price.

The Chandler motor is truly a great motor. There is none better. Fifty thousand Chandler owners know it. And countless thousands of their friends and neighbors know it. Now in its seventh year of constant development, without radical change of design, it approximates perfection.

The whole Chandler chassis, simple and sturdy, is dependable and enduring.

And Chandler bodies, graceful in line, roomy and comfortable, luxuriously upholstered and beautifully finished, are suggestive of the best custom work.

The New Series Touring Car

will delight you and your family. It is big and handsome, seats seven grown persons without crowding, and will take you anywhere in comfort.

The Chandler is fast when you want speed. It is flexible and instantly responsive in crowded traffic. It is powerful on steep grades.

"PEACE BRINGS NEW TASK" PRESIDENT TELLS NEW YORKERS

NEW YORK, July 8.—"The formulation of the peace creates a new task," said President Wilson in Carnegie hall late this afternoon. "This is a just peace," he added, "which if it can be preserved will save the world from unnecessary bloodshed. The great task will be to preserve it. I have come back with my heart full of enthusiasm, to throw my influence in with you to see that the peace is observed."

The President seemed a trifle careworn though his eyes were bright, his cheeks tanned and his voice strong and clear. As he walked upon the stage his step was firm and vigorous. He smiled with pleasure at the tumultuous and prolonged applause which greeted him. Cleveland H. Dodge, acting as a volunteer cheer leader, started the cheering over again when it seemed to be lagging.

The President's arrival was announced by the crashing strains of "Over There," the tune which he made the keynote of his speech on the eve of his departure for Europe last March. As he was about to take his seat after the cheering had subsided, Major Scott, commander of the R-34, accompanied by General Maitland, Royal Air Force observer on the dirigible, and General Charlton, air attaché of the British embassy, were brought forward and introduced. The President smilingly shook hands with all three, while the band played "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The opening speech of welcome was made by Rodman Wanamaker, who said:

"He has brought back our flag more hallowed than ever and with all our hearts we must stand behind him and for him."

Then came brief addresses by Governor Smith and Mayor Hylan. Another outburst of cheers followed Mayor Hylan's introduction. The cheering finally was drowned by the police band striking up "Marching Through Georgia." The President, who had been delayed in reaching the hall, seemed impatient to have the preliminaries out of the way. He began by saying: "I am not going to make you a real speech. I am a bit alarmed at how many speeches I have in my system undelivered, but they are from the mind. I want to say this afternoon only a few words from the heart. I do not believe the welcome you extend to me is as warm as that I extend to you. Jerseyman as I am, this is the first time I ever though Hoboken was beautiful."

He said his thought had always been of home while he was away. "I have really been the most homesick man in the American Expeditionary Force," he added. He then paid a warm tribute to the American soldiers and told of the welcome which awaited them wherever they were sent in France, because it was known they brought protection to the people.

"Those boys were a constant reminder to me of home," he continued. "They walked the streets as if they knew they belonged wherever free men lived."

Of his work at the peace conference and the vision of a free world which led America to enter the war, he said: "I am afraid some people—some persons—do not understand that vision." As for himself he said: "I have never had a moment's doubt as to where the heart and purpose of this people lay."

To those who ask whether America would come to the assistance of peoples menaced by oppression in the future, he said his reply had been: "Of course America will come in and help; she cannot do otherwise."

The peoples freed from the yoke of Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Germany, he said, have begun to breathe the air of liberty and see the dawn of freedom. "They have known," he added, "that America's presence in the conference and in the war was the guarantee of the result."

At the conclusion of his speech, which lasted about 20 minutes, the President was driven to the station where he boarded a special train leaving for Washington at 6:12 P. M.

Word was received last evening of death of Walter Broome, a former Curwensville boy now living at Brookville, Pa., which occurred at Philadelphia yesterday.

Walter Broome was the youngest son of Henry and Martha Broome, and was born in Curwensville about 35 years ago, where he resided until he reached early manhood. He was educated in the public schools of the town, and when he finished the high school course, entered the hardware store of his grandfather, Jacob Bilger. He remained a clerk for some years, but securing a position as a commercial traveler for a Pittsburgh house, he went on the road, making Brookville his headquarters. He asks to be divorced from his wife, Lavina Wisor, his statement showing they were married Nov. 26, 1913, and he was forced by reason of his wife's conduct to dissolve the partnership June 24, 1918. His names Paul Luzier as being the cause of his marital troubles.

The Supervisors of Bradford township petitioned the court yesterday for permission to vacate a public road three-fourths of a mile in length extending from near the home of A. B. Lansberry at "Bishtown" to a point at the Susquehanna river at or near the George Jordan place. The road is said to be useless and a burden to the township.

Edward W. Pierce filed a divorce application in the Prothonotary's office yesterday morning in which he seeks to be legally separated from his wife Ida M. Price. The Prices were married Feb. 28, 1916, and on Feb. 29th, 1916, the wife cried "quits" and beat it and has been going ever since.

Bertha M. Casker by her attorney M. Ward Fleming, asks for a divorce from Dell Roy Casker, who she married July 4, 1915, and whom she was forced to leave for good and all on May 22, 1918. STOP THAT ACHE!

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of that pain and lameness! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Many Clearfield people have used them and know how effective they are.

Here's a Clearfield case. Mrs. Paul Kline, 226 Sixth street, gave the following statement Dec. 7, 1915: "Some years ago I was troubled with pains across the small of my back and my back ached and throbbled all the time. It was painful for me to bend my body in any way and this trouble kept me awake at night. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills so I used some, procuring them at Thatcher's Drug Store. Doan's entirely removed the trouble and since that time, my back and kidneys have given me no annoyance. I gladly recommend this medicine to others suffering that way."

On Feb. 19, 1919, Mrs. Kline added: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills in some years now. I still think as highly of them as I did when I recommended them in 1915."

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw his through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.
